
LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION

To Whom It May Concern,

The following letter of recommendation for Leah Busler is written straight from the heart.

For two consecutive years, I have developed a close relationship with Leah Busler and her incredible family through Mars Hill Speech & Debate Club. The vision of our club is to encourage and equip home-educated students through speech and debate to become effective communicators of the Truth, defenders of the Faith, and a transforming influence on our culture. As a Mars Hill national competitor, Leah has demonstrated deep understanding and passion in implementing all three of these core values within her own community. I have seen her in tiring, stressful situations and she never falters in her compassion to be a true servant to others and live out her personal faith. Time and again, she has personified the highest standard of excellence and devotion.

Through Leah's volunteer involvement in the iNFLUENCE Student Leadership program (coaching future competitors ages 8-12), I have seen her passion for the arts and enthusiastic personality making an impact! Consistently, for each coaching event, she has dedicated time to share experience, encouragement, and to coach younger students.

Always respectful, and kind, she is a positive influence on everyone she encounters!

She has my deepest respect and admiration for maturity beyond her years.

I would not hesitate for a moment to recommend her as a student to your educational institution as a worthy example of the best her generation has to offer. She is brilliant, talented, and fearless, while at the same time hard working and devoted to excellence. I sincerely hope you will strongly consider her admission to your program and am happy to support her in future endeavors. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely yours,
